Are You A "Tender Foot"?

Not in the wild western sense, but in the sense of having tender feet. If you are, we want to fit your next pair of Shoes for you. There's a great deal in the way a shoe is first put on and the way the foot settles into it. If it's tight where it should be and loose where it should be, there'll be very little trouble. We make a study of these things. Prices? Of course they're right or we would not sell so many Shoes.

PEACE OVERTURES.

China Reported to Have Accepted and Japan to Have Rejected Terms of Peace.

Rebellion in Hankow—China's Efforts to Raise a Loan—Purchase of Rifles.

London, Oct. 16.—A Yokohama dispatch says a large number of Chinese prisoners have arrived there. The Japanese parliament met at Hiroschima yesterday.

London, Oct. 16.—The Central News claims to have the highest authority for the statement that overtures looking to a declaration of peace betwen China and Japan were made yesterday evening. Japan rejected the proposals made, considering them inadequate. According to the Central News there is every reason to believe the proposals were eminently satisfactory to China, and her representatives signified the willingness of their government to acquiesce in them.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Prince Yamishina of Japan will leave New York today for San Francisco.

J. W. McCOLL'S MARRIAGE.

He Surpirses His Friends in the Royal City.

New Westminster, Oct. 15.—The wedding of a couple of Westminster people at Seattle on Saturday has caused a sensation here. James W. McColl, barrister and solicitor, was there wedded to Miss Ella D. Grant, daughter of the late Captain Angus Grant. McColl left here quietly last Tuesday, and on Friday Miss Grant left, joining him in Seattle. Nothing was known of the matrimonial intentions of the couple until they were married. McColl's first wife died only three or four months ago. Miss Grant was probably the handsomest young woman in New Westminster.

Aeronaut Markleberg gave another balloon ascension and parachute drop today. He alighted in the middle of the river and was rescued a few minutes later by a boat.

OAKES EXONERATED.

The Case of Ives et al. Dismissed by Judge Jenkins.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—Judge Jenkins dismissed the petition of Ives et al. to have Oakes dismissed from the Northern Pacific receivership, and confirms special master Carys' report exonerating Oakes from making any money out of the road illegally. In his decision Judge Jenkins reviewed the history of the case and took the ground that Oakes' position as president of the Northern Pacific was unique; that while he was nominal head, he was not the financial head. He holds that Oakes had no power, save as one of the thirteen directors, in the acquisitions of the branch lines and terminals. Jenkins says in conclusion that the recent investigation completely exonerates Oakes. His character and integrity is without a spot or blemish. The petitions will therefore be dismissed.

A MOTHER'S AWFUL ACT.

She Takes Her Children to a Hay Mow and Sets Fire To It.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 16.—The bodies of Mrs. Harrington and her three children, whose ages ranged from six months to five years, were found burned to a crisp in the ruins of their barn this morning. [illegible] Newark at 6 o'clock. Shortly after Mrs. Harrington called on a neighbor for some milk. About ten o'clock Harrington's residence and barn were destroyed in flames, and it was not until the fire had been quenched that the remains of Mrs. Harrington and her three children were discovered. It is believed that the woman took the three children into the hay mow, and holding them close to her, set fire to the hay. The woman is believed to have been insane. A kerosene can and some matches were discovered in the barn.

SATOLLI IN CANADA.

He Expresses His Views on the Liquor and Social Questions.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—Mgr. Satolli, papal ablegate, arrived here yesterday morning. He was seen by your representative and said Bishop Watterson had condemned the liquor traffic, and he (Satolli) had maintained his action. That did not mean that liquor dealers were everywhere affected by the condemnation. Watterson found the step necessary in his own diocese, and acted accordingly. On the school question Satolli said the Catholic church always favored separate schools. In some cases, as in Faribault, they had been obliged to submit to a common school system, but that was because they had found it impossible to have separate schools for Catholics. He leaves for Quebec this afternoon, where he will consult with Cardinal Taschereau with regard to important ecclesiastical changes. It is possible that vacancies in the archbishopric of St. Boniface may be settled during Satolli's stay.

SCENE IN CHURCH.

Ministers Fight Over a Funeral Service.

Lockland, O., Oct. 16.—A sensational scene occurred in the Baptist church in this city yesterday, through the rivalry of two ministers as to who should conduct the funeral services of a young woman. The pall bearers and coffin, headed by the Rev. Collins, of the Collins Christian church, and followed by the sorrowing relatives, was advancing up the central aisle of the Baptist church when its pastor, the Rev. Mr. Martin, stepped from the pulpit and ordered the Rev. Mr. Collins to leave the building. The Christian Minister refused to do so, and it looked as if the two divines would come to blows. Marshal Renfrew was called in and ordered Martin to cease his interference on penalty of going to jail. The services then proceeded. The body was that of Miss Ida Scott, who had been a member of the Baptist church, while her mother belonged to the Methodist faith. When the girl was dying she requested that the Rev. Mr. Collins should conduct the services over her body in the Baptist church, that being adjacent to her home.

GLADSTONE'S CASE.

London World Starts a New Story About the Grand Old Man—Belgian Elections.

English Shareholders in Central Pacific Moving to Protect Their Interests.

London, Oct. 16.—The World publishes a story stating that Gladstone's retirement from active political life was for the purpose of taking holy orders, and that if he retains his health and regains his eyesight he will likely be ordained in 1895. Gladstone denies the story.

A dispatch from Lourenzo Marques says that on Oct. 14 natives made repeated attacks on the Portuguese garrison, killing nine soldiers and two white women.

London, Oct. 16.—A meeting of the security holders of the Central Pacific railway was held to-day. The object of the meeting was to consider important proposals, in view of the unsettled relations of the company with the U. S. and the Southern Pacific railway. A motion was passed that a committee of seven be appointed to represent and protect the interests of European shareholders. A motion was adopted to secure the services of Charles Rivers Wilson as counsel. One of the shareholders said the difficulty of the company was in registration. There was in this country 52 million shares in ten share certificates in the names of "Tom," "Dick," and "Harry," living in California. These holders gave their proxies to Huntington and his friends and they were the parties who elected the directors.

London, Oct. 16.—The defaulting Canadian customs officer, Neal, sails from Liverpool for Canada on the steamer Vancouver to-morrow.

Paris, Oct. 16.—Le Matin urges the government to immediately proclaim and enforce a blockade of Madagascar ports, and calls upon the minister of foreign affairs to fix the date. A member of the chamber of deputies has prepared an interpellation urging an immediate declaration of war against Madagascar and providing for the sending to the island of 12,000 fresh troops.

London, Oct. 16.—The French bark Duchess Anne from Dunkirk for Oregon, arrived at Buenos Ayres partially dismasted in a gale.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—Professor Virchow has expressed his opinion that the blood serum discovered by Dr. Behring has the effect of protecting persons from taking diphtheria for weeks, but says that it has not been demonstrated that this a permanent cure.

DOMINION SUPREME COURT.

Prohibition Case Postponed—An Octogenarian's Wedding.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The supreme court when it met to-day did not give judgment in the case involving the power to prohibit. It proceeded with the British Columbia Sawmill Company vs. Scott case. This is appealed from the supreme court of the province, which awarded $2500 damages to Charles R. Scott for injuries sustained in the company's mill, he being employed therein. Christopher Robinson appeared for the appellant and P. Casells for the respondent.

Senator Read, of Belleville, who is 80 years of age, was married in St. John's church here to-day to Mrs. Wortman, who is 62 years. Mackenzie Bowell was best man. The church was crowded. Thompson, Quimet, Tupper, Angers, Caron, Wallace and Senator Sanford were present at the marriage.

MADMAN IN CHURCH.

He Turned a Repeating Rifle Loose, Causing a Panic.

York, Pa., Oct. 16.—With a jug of cider in one hand and a repeating rifle in the other, William Pattison, an escaped madman, entered the Mount Olivet church yesterday. He at once threw the congregation into a panic by firing right and left. About a week ago [illegible] who was an inmate of the state asylum at Harrisburg, escaped. Yesterday he came to the Mount Olivet church, where a meeting was in progress, and without ado walked in. Gesticulating wildly and swinging the jug around his head, he poured out a string of oaths, and then brought his gun to his shoulder and pulled the trigger. No one dared go near the wild eyed maniac, who aimed his rifle at windows, pulpit, stoves and pews with a recklessness that set men, women and children rushing pell mell out of doors. Pattison reloaded his weapon and banged away until he had fired 28 shots. As no one then remained in the church but himself, he picked up his jug and walked out. He was overtaken by Officer Shenk and was locked up. The Olivet church presents a sorry appearance. The windows are shattered and the seats and pulpit splintered by the bullets.

CABLE DISPATCHES.

Result of the Norwegian Election—New Cardinals.

London, Oct. 15.—The Ameer of Afghanistan is understood to be suffering from internal hemorrhage. General Lord Roberts, who was for many years commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, was interviewed to-day in regard to the probable addition to the eastern complications in the event of the death of the Ameer Abdurrahman Khan, and said: "Similar reports of illness, from which the Ameer has recovered, have reached India in years gone by, but the Ameer is now older, and the constantly recurring attacks of the gout must have seriously undermined his general health. The news doubtless was brought from Cabul to Peshawur by horsemen and was telegraphed from the latter place to Simla. Should the question of succession arise, there will certainly be serious trouble at Cabul between the opposing forces."

A count of the votes cast in the Norway election showed that the Radicals polled 8339 to the Conservatives' 8968. Thus the Radicals gain four members in the Storthing. A crowd assembled today to hear the poll declared. Ex-Prime Minister Steen delivered an oration on the subject of [illegible]. The returns from the various constituencies are incomplete, but the figures already received are sufficient to show that neither party will obtain a decisive majority in the new storthing, which will probably consist of 58 members of the party of the left and 56 members of the right.

The Rome correspondent of the Times, denying the reported cordiality between Prime Minister Crispi and Foreign Minister Blanca, and the impending retirement of Signor Blanca, says that the policy of the two ministers is absolutely identical. Signor Blanca's position is absurd. The attacks on him are instigated by the Rudini party, who oppose the triple alliance and favor alliance with Great Britain. The Marquis di Rudini finds some support in court circles.

King Alexander of Servia arrived at Buda Pesth yesterday and proceeded at once to the royal castle, where he was received by Emperor Francis Joseph, who presented to him Dr. Wackerle, the Hungarian prime minister; Count Kalnoky, the imperial minister of foreign affairs, and other prominent personages. To-night the emperor gave a state banquet in the king's honor.

At the next papal consistory, which will be held before Christmas, several cardinals will be appointed. Among those who will receive the red hat are Mgr. Jacobini, archbishop of Tyr and papal nuncio to Portugal; Mgr. Cretoni, nuncio to Spain, and Mgr. Fausti, the papal auditor.

THE EASTERN WAR.

Rebellion at Hankow—The Chinese to Put a Good Face On.

London, Oct. 15.—A dispatch from Shanghai says: It is reported that in consequence of the projected million pounds sterling ten per cent. loan, to be guaranteed by the imperial customs, Chinese agents abroad have been instructed to put the best face possible on the recent Chinese reverses and to represent the fleet as being active and efficient.

A dispatch from Shanghai, dated today, confirms the report telegraphed to the Associated Press that a rebellion had broken out one hundred miles from Hankow. The rebels are fairly armed and very reckless. They attacked the government buildings, which were feebly defended by loyal troops. The latter were soon defeated, and many were killed, while others joined the rebels. Two mandarins were killed. The province is denuded of troops and the rebels are daily gathering strength. It is expected that they will advance on the Woochang province of Hoope, of which Hankow is the capital. The garrison at Woochang has gone to the west, and the place is therefore practically defenceless.

A dispatch to the Times from Berlin says that Germany's refusal to interfere in the Chinese-Japanese troubles does not affect the question of protection to Europeans in China, in which she will cooperate. The German commander in Chinese waters has already been authorized to dispatch a body of marines to protect the legation in Pekin. If there should be any trouble it is believed the moral effect of even such a small body of European troops would effectually check a Chinese mob.

Hamburg firm has purchased 100,000 Albini rifles at four francs each from the Belgian government for export to China.

The Morning Post has this dispatch from its Berlin correspondent: Germany has rejected England's proposal to join the powers and intervene between China and Japan, desiring herself to be the prime mover in any settlement. Her attitude is influenced by the emperor's chivalrous regard for the czar's condition.

MADE NO DISTINCTION.

A Wealthy Kentuckian Lynched Near Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 15.—Another lynching has been added to the unusually large fall series of Blue Grass lynching bees. On Saturday at the close of the Beattyville fair, Oscar Morton, a prominent citizen of Morton, in Powell county, went on the warpath. Two weeks ago Morton killed a man at Stanton and was out on $5000 bonds. He arrived at the fair on Saturday and proceeded to get drunk. When thoroughly intoxicated he started to hunt for Sheriff Sims, who is an [illegible] enemy, a feud of long standing having existed between them. Sims and Morton met near the entrance to the fair grounds, and after a few words both of them drew pistols. A quick exchange of shots followed, Morton using two pistols. His first shot broke the sheriff's right arm at the elbow. John Hogg, a friends of Sims', whipped out his gun and joined in the battle. When the smoke had cleared away it was found that Sheriff Sims was dead, having been shot once through the breast, once in the abdomen and again through the arm. Morton was shot through the neck, while Hogg was unhurt. Morton was hustled to the county jail and placed under guard.

The people became infuriated, and a big meeting was at once held in the public square. Colonel John Drummond mounted a barrel and made a speech. He said the murderer must be hanged, but that the work must be done quietly and with perfect order. Morton had killed two men in less than two months, and he must die by the rope.

A mob was quickly formed and marched to the jail. The jailer was overpowered and the keys of Morton's cell obtained. He was found crouching on the floor, and after a bitter struggle was seized and dragged out. Seeing that the game was up, Morton made the best of the thing, and told the mob that he did not care what they did with him provided they did their work quickly. After a short parley he was taken to a little bridge a short distance from town and the rope was placed around his neck. The leaders drew their [illegible] him to jump, else he would be riddled with bullets. Turning round, the doomed man cursed his captors, and uttering wild imprecations leaped into space. The jump broke his neck.

After dangling in the air for some minutes his body became stiff and a volley of bullets was fired into it. The mob then dispersed, leaving the body dangling from the bridge. At noon on Sunday the body was still there. None of the mob made any attempt to conceal their identity, and the hanging was conducted with as much formality as if it had been a legal affair. The murderer was a wealthy man who lived at Stanton.

EMPLOYER AND EMPLOYEES.

Annual Profit Sharing of the South London Granaries.

London, Oct. 16.—A large company assembled at Brixton yesterday at the annual profit-sharing festival of the employees of the South London granaries. Mr. Arthur Osborne presided and gave it as his opinion that the profit-sharing system went a long ways towards solving that deep and distressing antagonism between capital and labor, which was doing so much to cripple the commercial prestige of England. Mr. Osborne said that while the employer did his best towards his employees, and the employees on the other hand did their best for their employers, the fear of a loss in the business was reduced to a minimum. He announced that the bonus to each employee of the South London Granaries amounted to ten per cent., which meant a distribution of nearly four thousand dollars. Mr. C. P. Tritton, M. P., who spoke, said that he had never seen such a happy understanding between employers and employed, and he wished many of those who are ever ready to intensify the antagonism between capital and labor were present to share in the enthusiasm.

REPROTS DISAGREE.

Some Say the Czar Is Better and Others He Is Worse.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 15.—It is asserted that Dr. Zacharin has admitted that the theory that the czar is afflicted with cancer is correct.

London, Oct. 15.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Times says the reports that the czar is better are confirmed by advices from the best circles near his majesty. On the other hand a Vienna correspondent of the Times says that the czar's condition is extremely unfavorable.

STRAUSS' JUBILEE.

Duly Celebrated in Vienna To-Day by a Grand Reception.

Vienna, Oct. 15.—The celebration of the Strauss jubilee was continued to-day by a grand reception at which the composer received a number of deputations and an immense gathering of individual callers. Among the presents received by the "Waltz King," was a magnificent wreath of sterling silver presented by Rudolph Aronson on behalf of Americans. In response to an address Strauss said he owed all to his predecessors and above all to his father who showed him the way to musical progress. "My fe[illegible] an enlarged form."

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

A Boon for All Infants.

Lactated Food Baby's Protector and Mother's Comfort.

As far as babies are concerned, time and science have contributed much for their comfort and health.

The greatest boon of science for the infant is Lactated Food, a highly nutritious form of diet containing all the principal elements of pure and healthy breast milk.

Lactated Food, thoroughly well known to thousands of mothers in Canada takes precedence of all other forms of prepared foods. Its purity, strengthening powers, its adaptability for weak digestion and its non-irritating qualities are well known to physicians who prescribe it every day.

Babies properly and regularly fed on Lactated Food are always secure from such infantile troubles as dysentery, diarrhoea and bowel consumption. In a word, Lactated Food "saves babies lives" when all other foods fail. Try it mothers, the results will delight you.

To Nursing Mothers!

A leading Ottawa Doctor writes: "During Lactation, when the strength of the mother is deficient, or the secretion of milk scanty, gives most gratifying results." It also improves the quality of the milk.

WYETH'S MALT EXTRACT

It is largely prescribed To Assist Digestion, To Improve the Appetite, To Act as a Food for Consumptives, In Nervous Exhaustion, and as a Valuable Tonic.

MATERNITY HOSPITAL.

To the Editor:—The publication of the letter written by Dr. Helmcken to the board of directors of this hospital having placed the matter of the proposed maternity hospital in such a way before the public that I am credited with obstructing the progress of the scheme by my erroneous estimates, it is my duty to correct that impression.

I am as anxious as anyone to see a maternity ward in connection with this hospital when the requisite amount of funds is provided for its erection, furnishing and maintenance.

I was not asked to estimate upon the cost of a model of an ordinary small house, or the cost of furnishing or maintaining it for the use of a few nurses as a school of instruction.

The committee stated to me that their wish was to provide accommodation for the maternity cases arising among the poor and needy of Victoria. We therefore fixed on six as the probable average number that would have to be provided for during the next few years. That is, of course, six every three of four months, about one hundred during the year.

My estimate is made to appear as giving the cost of the maintenance of six patients the enormous sum of $4125, whereas $4125 should cover the cost of treating of at least one hundred such cases during the year. Rather less, I am of the opinion, than $1865 for 25 or 30.

There are no employees of the hospital who have enough spare time to give such assistance as is spoken of. Other help would have to be provided for that.

Double the cost of $1865 for an average of three patients per diem and you have $3730, or $395 less than my estimate. This is doubtless because I allowed for the salaries of a head nurse and a pupil nurse. Three hundred and ninety-five a year would just pay for a salary of $25 per month for head nurse, and $8 a month for pupil nurse. I certainly consider it extremely advisable that some trained nurse should be in charge of the institution, however small it may be, in order that the care of the patients may not be left to inexperienced nurses.

In our experience it is easy enough to get nurses for almost no salary in the general hospitals, but in maternity hospitals it is rare for obvious reasons. We also allowed for the clothing, shoes, etc., worn by the pupils when on duty.

In the estimate printed in the Times some days ago it was stated that I estimated for a "staff of trained nurses, assistant nurse and cook." I did not do so at all. It was erroneous, but I did not think it worth while to correct it at the time. I did not think it would be used to misrepresent my estimate.

To prove the correctness of my estimate I refer you to Burdette's work on hospitals and asylums, Vol. III, page 140, where the average cost of the maintenance of a bed in the lying-in hospitals of London, England, is given. It is stated to be £142 17s. 6d., or about $693 per year. This for six beds would give an estimated cost of about $4557, or $25 more than mine. This is in the most economically and efficiently managed hospitals in the world.

Having been at one time in charge of the Burnside lying-in hospital of Toronto, which is, I think, the largest in Canada, I am somewhat in a position to estimate the requirements of such a hospital.

THE KAFFIR TROUBLE.

Rhodes' Offer to Quell the Rebellion Politely Declined.

Cape Town, Oct. 15.—The government of the South African republic has offered to assist the Portuguese at Lourenzo Marquez against the Kaffirs. The proposed co-operation is regarded with suspicion here as an infringement [illegible] suzerainty.

Lourenzo Marquez, Oct. 15.—The rebellious Kaffirs in great force attacked this town to-day. They were repulsed. A renewal of the attack is expected at any time. The situation is serious, as the fort defending the place is not sufficient to make a prolonged resistance.

London, Oct. 15.—A dispatch to the Times from Lourenzo Marquez says the Portuguese have politely declined the offer of assistance made to them by Cecil Rhodes, prime minister of Cape Colony, to quell the rebellion. The dispatch says the cable station at Lourenzo Marquez has been abandoned, as has also cable connection with the British warship Thrush, from which all dispatches are sent. The correspondent of the Times, continuing, says: "The governor yesterday told me that he did not think the rebels would attack the town, but they attacked it this morning and were repulsed by a heavy cannonade. Twelve Portuguese were killed. The country is in open revolt, and the authorities talk of asking assistance of the Transvaal Republic."

Between disease and the many cheap preparations [illegible] palmed off under the name of blood purifiers, take your chance with disease, until you can procure Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the only reliable blood purifier. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine.

Hood's Cured After Others Failed

Sangerville, Maine.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

CARLYLE'S FIRST LOVE.

She Had "Bronze-Red" Hair and Was the Original of Blumena.

Elizabeth Mercer, in the Westminster Review, contributes a few pages in which she throws some light upon the lady whom Mr. Carlyle first loved, and whom he immortalized as Blumena in Sartor Resartus. It seems that Blumena was a Miss Kirkpatrick. She was "the daughter of a Begum at Hyderabad, a Persian princess by descent, who married Colonel Kirkpatrick, an English officer holding a high post at the court there. Her hair, which Carlyle describes as 'bronze-red,' was, she said, peculiar to the Persian royal family. In person she was far more foreign than English, and it was this rare combination of Eastern grace and beauty, with the highest English culture, which made her so very charming."

Elizabeth Mercer writes: "I was connected with Mrs. Phillips (Blumena), my first cousin having married her niece, Christine Kirkpatrick. This led to our first acquaintance, when circumstances took me as a girl to Torquay in the year 1847. Captain and Mrs. Phillips were then residing at a charming place called the Warberry. She was arranging books in the library one morning, when she turned to me and said:

"'Lizzie, have you read Sartor Resartus, by Carlyle?'

"'No, I had not.'

"'Well, get it, and read the Romance. I am the heroine, and every word of it is true. He was then tutor of my cousin, Charles Buller, and had made no name for himself; so, of course, I was told that such an idea would not be thought of for a moment. What could I do, with everyone against it? Now anyone might be proud to be his wife, and he has married a woman quite beneath him.'

"This was all she said, and the subject was never alluded to again."

AS A DRESS REFORMER.

Adelina Patti Has Something to Say on This Question.

Adelina Patti, as a dress reformer, should take rank with Adelina Patti, singer. Hear her:—

"I think there certainly are some reforms which health and comfort imperatively demand should be made. Without adopting the radical ideas of some of the so-called dress-reformers, without so altering the present mode of dress as to convert it from a thing of beauty to one of horrid ugliness, without dressing in male apparel like Dr. Mary Walker, and without making one's self look like a fright, there are certain reforms which we may make, and which will at once commend themselves to every lady as sensible and as advisable to follow.

Among the reforms which I would suggest is that all women should dispense with garters which compress and tire the leg and retard the circulation of the blood, and replace them with stocking-supporters at the side. Then, too, I think it would be advisable to dispense with stays or corsets and substitute them for some form of waist. Instead of letting our skirts hang on our hips, exhausting us with their heaviness and often causing us martyrdom in long walks, we can pin them to the waist we wear in lieu of corsets, and thus throw their weight upon our shoulders.

"Yet, in considering the reforms demanded in woman's dress, we must not forget that it is not only in its unhealthfulness that reform is needed. Its artistic details require it quite as much. Take stockings, for example. What is more offensive than a loud, fancy stocking? To my mind stockings should always be of one solid color. Those of black silk are the most appropriate and economical for general wear. Bronze silk stockings also look well, especially when worn with slippers of the same hue.

"From stockings, we pass naturally to shoes, and there is certainly no other article of feminine wearing apparel which calls more urgently for reform. The shoe should always be a little larger than the foot of the wearer when she compresses it on the ground by bearing her whole weight upon it, but instead of wearing such shoes women wear those that are both narrower and shorter than their feet. A shoe should be made as short in the vamp as possible, and full enough to enable the wearer to walk, run, and dance with perfect comfort. Tight shoes and high heels are responsible for quite as much ill-health among women as is tight lacing, which is held to blame by so many people for all the sufferings of feminine humanity."

NEWFOUNDLAND'S CHANGE.

About the beginning of this year there was a general election in Newfoundland, from which the government of Sir William Whiteway emerged with a large majority. Now the government of Sir William Whiteway is dispersed, most of its members and many of its supporters are disqualified for political office, and the former opposition, led by Messrs. Goodridge and Morine, reigns in its stead. The reversal is correctly described as a most remarkable one. We quote from the Mail the following history of the affair, which is quite unique among political incidents: "To begin at the beginning, the last legislature voted large sums for road building purposes, and, as if to provide that the money should not be misapplied, passed in addition a corrupt practices law very similar to ours. The only point in which the Newfoundland and the Canadian acts differ is in the provision as to disqualification. We disqualify for eight years where personal corruption is proven; the Newfoundlanders, on the other hand, disqualify for the term of the legislature then sitting. The election came on in due forceemfwypemmm tion came on in due course, and both parties fought a bold and vigorous fight. But the government had, by long odds, the best of the argument. Ministers, as a matter of fact, controlled the road money, and took care to place it where, in our own political terminology, it would do the most good. The court records show that the expenditure in all the constituencies was most liberal. Wherever a road was wanted there, provided the parties would vote the government ticket, a road was built. In the construction of the roads the doubtful voters were employed, the money going to them really as an inducement to support the ministerial candidate. Suggestively enough, road-building commenced when the election began, the work was prosecuted with increasing activity as that the election was over road-building ceased. That the good roads movement was materially aided by the expenditure is seriously doubted. Some public roads were actually repaired; certain private roads were furnished; but, on the whole, in spite of the expenditure, no very great addition was made to the mileage." British Columbians will recognize in this account of the Newfoundland election a remarkably close similarity to that which would be written by a truthful chronicler of the late contest in this province. The Whiteway tactics were exactly the same as the Davie tactics. Unfortunately the parallel stops at this point, for the British Columbia courts have not had the opportunity, and might not have had the power, to punish the wrongdoers here as the erring politicians in Newfoundland were punished. The opposition there entered protests against the return of many Whitewayite members, and the judges took the ground that the manipulation of road money was bribery and corruption. One after another has been unseated and disqualified, supporters of the new governments being elected in their stead. Late bye-elections assure the Goodridge-Morine government of a good working majority in the legislature, and the Whiteway party is practically extinguished. It is a noteworthy fact that Mr. Morine, one of the leading members of the new cabinet, when he ran as a Conservative candidate for the commons in Queen's, Nova Scotia, used public works as a bribe for the electors there. His addresses were intended to convince the people of Queen's that if he were elected they would fare exceedingly well at the hands of the Dominion government, while if they elected the Liberal they would get nothing. Therefore, so far as public morality goes, Mr. Morine is not a whit better than the members of the Whiteway government for his course shows him just as ready to bribe with public works if he gets the opportunity.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

E. E. Sheppard, of Toronto, the well known publisher of Saturday Night, usually takes the Conservative side, but he has apparently come round to the view that a radical change of tariff policy would be a good thing for Canada. His theory is that there can be no successful mean between a prohibitory tariff and absolute free trade, and after looking at all the circumstances dispassionately he comes to the conclusion that Canada would do much better with absolute free trade. He would entirely abolish custom houses and inland revenue offices, dispensing with all tax-gatherers save those who do the work for the municipalities. The latter bodies under his scheme would furnish the [illegible] the contributions being levied pro rata. This system, he believes, would result in largely economizing the revenue, and it would make Canada a cheap country to live in and therefore attractive to immigrants. If people generally would look into the question as closely and impartially as "Don" has they would come round to his way of thinking in large numbers.

The Colonist first tries to make it appear that the recent revision of the tariff has caused a smaller amount of taxes to be taken out of the people's pockets, and almost immediately follows this with the assertion that it cannot tell just yet whether the falling off in the revenue is due to the lower duties or to lessened importations. Anyone with ordinary prudence would have waited for the necessary information on which to base an opinion, but our amusing neighbor is content to blunder on without it. There is no doubt as to its accuracy, however, when it says the tariff revision has been followed by a decrease of revenue, and the problem before the Dominion government is the method of making up for the decrease. The expenditure has not been decreased, so it must be assumed that a deficit—that thing of horror to Tories—is in prospect.

DIRT OUT OF PLACE.

To the Editor:—As the property owners on either side of Trounce avenue have apparently decided to allow dirt to accumulate in that thoroughfare without any regard to decency, is it not time that some public steps should be taken to compel the owners of this enclosed but much travelled street to clean it out once a month at least. If the place were not paved the piles of accumulated sweepings would not be so conspicuous and visitors would take less notice of the dirty careless habits of some of the people. If there is no by-law on the subject now I hope the city council will pass one and see that it is enforced.

MAN ABOUT TOWN.

THE PROSPECT OF FLYING.

Mr. Maxim's Predictions as to Probable Future Success.

Lord Rahleigh, in speaking of my experiments at the Oxford meeting of the British Association, said he considered that of the five great problems to be solved before flight could be accomplished, I had already solved three. I presume he referred to the motive power, the propelling power, and the lifting power. What remains to be done is to learn to steer and manoeuvre the machine, and when once free flight is accomplished, I believe that the aviator is able to bring the machine slowly to the earth, and land without injury or shock. Of course it would be necessary to approach the earth slowly in a vertical direction while running at a very high speed, and to shut off steam the instant the machine touches the earth. The machine will then run forward over the earth, and be brought to a state of rest in about 100 feet.

Now that it has been shown that a machine may be made that will actually lift itself and travel through the air at a very high velocity, I believe that some of the military powers who have been so long experimenting in this direction will take advantage of what I have accomplished, that they will obtain sufficient appropriation, and that an actual flying machine for military purposes will soon be evolved, whether I continue my experiments or not. As for the commercial value of the flying machines, I do not think it is likely that they will be employed for freight or passengers. Perhaps they may be used for sporting purposes, and it is not altogether unlikely that in the daily journals of 20 years hence we shall find illustrations of some popular prince of the realm on a flying machine pursuing a flock of wild geese through the air and firing on them with a Maxim gun.—Hiram S. Maxim, in The National Review.

Glances and Glimpses About Town.

The excellent cut and interesting description of the Prince Rupert which appeared in the Times on Saturday is a piece of journalistic enterprise deserving of encouragement. It has given much satisfaction to your readers and has started a train of speculation regarding the route upon which the new steamer is to be placed. If the Prince Rupert be not intended as an opposition to the C. P. N. company, between what points will she ply? Can it be possible that Mr. Van Horne's trip over the Victoria & Sidney road, a few months ago, may point to a solution of the mystery? When Mr. Van Horne undertakes a trip over a line he generally purchases the property. By purchasing the Victoria & Sidney railway the Prince Rupert could run between Vancouver and Sidney, while an extension of the road to the outer wharf would transfer the terminus of the C. P. R. from Vancouver to Victoria. This idea is somewhat farfetched, but there may be something in it.

The air is alive with railway rumors, and curiosity is keenly on edge respecting the British Pacific. It is of course somewhat premature to predict anything in this [illegible] that some reasonable, soundly financial and prudently economical and conservative scheme for opening up the interior of British Columbia and enable labor and capital to reach the hidden treasures which are known to exist may soon be presented to the public.

One thing the city must be careful to preserve—that is its freedom from any railway monopoly of its franchises. No exclusive right of way should be conceded to any railway corporation. Extend reasonable facilities to all, monopolistic privileges to none.

There appears to be a slight movement of an inquiring tendency in the real estate line. Very slight, I must admit, but still noticeable. There are also gratifying indications of a general improvement in the business tone which is somewhat encouraging and induces the hope that we are about to emerge from the depressing gloom which for some time past has darkened the commercial sky.

In glancing in at the different shops in the city during the rush on Saturday night I was struck with the activity which was observable in and about the establishments that advertise their wares and the comparative absence of bustle around the establishments that don't. The contrast was marked, and would seem to answer in the affirmative the oft repeated question, Does advertising pay?

ARGUS.

A SANCTIFIED BAND.

Fanatic Outgrowth of Methodism Existing in Maryland.

The recent mysterious killing of Thomas Bowden at Chincoteague island, Va., and the frequent mention made in the stories of that affair to the Sanctified Band, a religious body of the island, has aroused considerable interest in that sect. The Sanctified Band, which had its origin on Chincoteague island, Va., about seven years ago, was started by Joe Lynch, who was converted at a protracted meeting held in the Methodist Episcopal church of that place, and became in a short time sanctified in the sense set forth in the Holy Scripture and the Methodist discipline.

Being unable to contain his joy when he "found his soul set free from the turmoils of sin," as he expressed it, he went to extremes. He distorted the Holy Writ to suit his own purposes and gathered around him a band of illiterate men and women, whom he imbued with his own ideas. The conduct of Lynch and his disciples soon became so outrageous as to lead to their expulsion from the Methodist congregation, but, nothing daunted, they at once went to work and built a place of worship, in which they conducted their services, or rather performances, which savor more of an Indian sun dance than anything else. They work themselves into such frenzies of excitement that many faint from sheer exhaustion. It is said that Lynch obtained permission from the authorities of Accomac county to perform marriage and other ceremonies usually pertaining to a minister of the gospel, and in a short time he promulgated a series of doctrines that have led to much trouble.

One of these doctrines—and the one productive of the most trouble—is that each member of the band is to select a [illegible] and vice versa. The couples meet alone together to study Scripture and "meditate." As these "meditations" frequently last nearly all night, and the "twos" seldom being man and wife, there is considerable objection to the meditating, especially when a sanctified wife of an unsanctified man meditates until 2 or 3 a.m. with one of the brethren. Nor do the sanctified wives feel sufficient confidence in their sanctified husbands to sit contentedly at home knowing that they are meditating and talking Scriptura with another woman who is perhaps younger and prettier. Lynch has given it out that all persons who are married according to legal form or by an unsanctified minister are in the eyes of God guilty of breaking the seventh commandment and that the children of such unions are illegitimate. These are a few of the teachings of the fanatics, all of them being on a par with the instances given.

The lamentable feature of the case is that Lynch's followers believe him, and are energetic in making proselytes. A branch church has started at Williamsville, Del., and quite a number have embraced the sanctified idea. A few believers also live at Box Iron, in this county, a small hamlet near the Sinepuxent bay, and near Chincoteague. An astonishing feature about these people is the readiness with which they quote Scripture and point out how sinful everybody except the sanctified are. To do this they display much skill in taking scraps of the truth and severing them from the context to excuse the excesses committed by themselves.—Snow Hill (Md.) Correspondence St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A new tablet just brought out in London is finding a place on the tea tray. It is a tea-toning lozenge which is dropped into an infusion of tea, and acts as a solvent to the tannin never absent from the most delicately brewed of this beverage. Its component parts are gelatine and alkaline salts, and its alleged office is a neutralization of any injurious digestive effect of the cup which "cheers" indeed at the moment of drinking, but often chides bitterly afterwards.

Manchester's new water works, which it has taken over seven years to construct, are nearly ready. The water is brought from Thirlmere lake, at the foot of the Helvellyn, through an aqueduct ninety-six miles long. It passes through one tunnel three miles long and through another of a mile and three-quarters. The River Ribble is crossed by a siphon nine and a half miles long, with a pressure of water of 400 feet. The addition to the city's water supply is 10,000,000 gallons a day.

—Robert Williams, an old resident of the province, died suddenly at the Balmoral hotel last night. He had been complaining for several days and had been a sufferer for several years from an acute disease of the kidneys. He was heard moving about the room and talking to himself about 11 o'clock, and it is believed that he did not die until after midnight. When he failed to appear at breakfast this morning his room was opened and his body was found lying across the bed. He had not disrobed and had evidently thrown himself across the bed to rest for a while. Coroner Hasell was sent for and decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Mr. Williams was about 75 years of age, a native of England, and was quite well to do, having, it is said, between $40,000 and $50,000. He was highly educated, having a degree from an English university, and at times gave private lessons. He has resided in British Columbia off and on for thirty years, but as far as known had no relatives here.

THE NOBLE REDSKIN.

Police Officers Attacked on the Reserve —an Indian Shot.

The city police had a skirmish with a party of drunken Indians on the Songhees reserve at midnight last night, and as a result one of the braves is in the Jubilee hospital with a bad wound in the leg. Sergeant Levin fired to frighten his attackers, and the Indian, who had him by the throat, received the bullet in the leg. It all happened this way:

Sergeant Levin and Constable Redgrave arrested a drunken siwash who had a bottle of whiskey in his possession and were taking him to jail when they were attacked by about a dozen friends of the Indian. They downed the officers and took the prisoner away from them. The officers defended themselves as best they could, but were outnumbered. Redgrave warned Levin that there was a man behind him with a knife, and the sergeant drew his revolver and fired. When the man who was shot fell the Indians all fled. A couple of Indian women warned the officers that they had gone for rifles, and the officers retired for reinforcements.

Later while Constable McKay was attending to the wounded man he was assaulted by a drunken Indian named William. He beat him off, but later the Indian attacked him again, and but for Constable Redgrave would have struck him over the head with a whiskey bottle. Sergeant Hawton and a squad of eight men made a search for the offenders, but did not find any. The wounded man was taken to Jubilee hospital for treatment, and William, who attacked Constable McKay, was locked up. In the police court this morning William was convicted of interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty and having liquor in his possession. Sentence was deferred until to-morrow.

A FIGHT THAT FAILED.

Frederick Bollman Tried to Resist Extradition but Gave up.

Frederick Bollman, the Sydney embezzler, will start to-morrow morning on his long journey to the Antipodes in charge of Sergeant Forbes of the New South Wales police. He changed his mind about going willingly last night, announced that he was going to fight to the last ditch and retained A. L. Belyea to take his case. He found out, however, that the best that he could do would be to delay his departure for a month, but that go he must, and came around to the opinion that Henckles & Co. would not be pleased or disposed to deal leniently with him if he put them to any more expense. This afternoon in open court he agreed to go without trouble, and signed his name after the entry to that effect made by Magistrate Macrae. Yesterday afternoon the warrant sworn to at Sydney before Magistrate Isaacs and authenticated by His Excellency Sir Robert Duff, governor of New South Wales, was taken to Mr. Justice Drake of the supreme court and also backed by him. Then this morning a new information, superseding the provisional warrant sworn to by Chief Sheppard, was drawn up and sworn to by Sergeant Forbes. Bollman was brought into court and arraigned on this. He was represented by Mr. Belyea, who asked for an adjournment and an opportunity to examine the papers. The case was put off until 1:40 o'clock and the desired opportunity to see the papers given. When the case was called this afternoon Mr. Belyea raised the point that there was nothing to show that Henckles & Co., had not received their money. The court overruled the objection in that direction and without much further parley Bollman agreed to accompany the officer. The magistrate made an entry to that effect in his book and at his request Bollman signed his name after the entry. Court adjourned, Bollman was taken to his cell, and Sergeant Forbes began preparations for getting away. The local authorities have proceeded in the case under the Fugitive Offenders Act. Had Bollman decided to fight, Magistrate Macrae would have committed him to jail and under the act would have had to tell him that he could not be taken away for 15 days, during which time he would have the opportunity to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. The magistrate would then have had to make a report to the Governor-General, from whom under the act the authority for his extradition would have to come. The papers which Sergeant Forbes brought here are models from a legal standpoint. They were prepared under the direction of the attorney-general of New South Wales, and are complete in every respect. The sergeant also carried a second warrant for the apprehension of Bollman in the United States.

A BURGLAR LANDED.

Robert Corrin Made Two Hauls in Rapid Succession.

The police made a very clever capture this morning, when Sergeant Hawton went to the bark Northern Hay and arrested Robert Corrin, a burglar who played a brief but brilliant engagement. On Friday last the home of W. H. Turnbull was burglarized and a lot of valuable silverware, including a teapot, sugar bowl, cream jug, large cake stand and tidy, and a number of other articles taken. The robbery was committed at night and the burglar got in by forcing a door. The case was reported to the police, and a little later Mr. Richardson of the Windsor hotel reported that he had been robbed. From the latter place less booty than at Mr. Turnbull's was secured. The police set to work on the case and fixed the crime on Corrin. It was learned that the latter had shipped on the bark Northern Hay, salmon laden, and ready to sail for England. The sergeant went to the outer wharf this morning and readily found Corrin and placed him under arrest. The sergeant searched his bunk and baggage and found nearly all of the goods stolen, completing the evidence against him. Corrin was in the police court this morning, but his case was remanded until to-morrow. There are two counts against him, one for burglary and the other for larceny.

Corrin is a middle aged man, and served in the navy, being discharged here, it is said, some eight years ago. He was out on some of the sealing schooners and always led an honorable life.

HOME SLAVES.

From Early Morn Till Late at Night.

Worry, Work and Bustle.

Results: Nervousness! Sleeplessness! Headache! Dyspepsia and Run-Down Constitution.

Paine's Celery Compound the Wife and Mother's Salvation

It Gives Health amd Strength and a New Lease of Life.

The home slaves of our country—the thousands of wives and mothers who toil from early morn till late at night—deserve comfort, cheering and encouragement.

The daily toil, worry and bustle in the management of home and children is so severe on the vast majority of mothers, that they become prematurely aged and broken down in body. Thousands are nervous, sleepless, dyspeptic, despondent and melancholic.

Unless some effort, some means of rescue, be devised for saving these devotees and slaves of home life, the dark grave will greedily engulf many wearied and worn-out mothers, leaving mourning husbands and helpless little ones behind. 'Tis a fearful picture, but nevertheless true as heaven's sun shines upon earth. It is well to know the truth. It is our duty to utter warnings in tones that cannot be misunderstood.

Our weary, nervous, faint, weak and broken down wives and mothers must follow the example of a multitude of their sisters who have renewed and changed their lives, by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's true and infallible invigorator and strengthener.

Oh! ye overworked, burdened mothers, your duty is clear. Your husband and dear ones need your presence in the home for years to come. Lay hold of that great health builder, Paine's Celery Compound, at once; it will give you new life, vigor, strength and lengthened years. Husbands, you have a duty to perform, a true devotion to wife and children will compel its performance. See that your devoted wives are supplied with the medicine that is so well adapted for their condition. Nothing but Paine's Celery Compound can bring back the glow of health to the fading and pale cheeks; nothing else can make your weak and despondent wives bright, vigorous and happy.

Saved and cured women in all parts of Canada have sent in telling testimony regarding the life-giving effects of Paine's Celery Compound; the following from Mrs. Joseph Lloyd, Gananoque, Ont., will be interesting to all women:

"I feel it my duty to tell you what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I was always a sufferer from nervous debility and very bad headache, and found it impossible to obtain sleep and rest.

"Two years ago I read of your Paine's Celery Compound, and bought a bottle of it. After I used it I found I could get rest and quiet. I have used altogether seven bottles and find myself completely cured.

Your medicine purifies the blood and regulates the system; and I would not be without it in my house if it took my last dollar.

"Before using Paine's Celery Compound my weight was only one hundred pounds; now I weigh 141 pounds. Is this not sufficient reason for me to praise [illegible]?

"Before I knew of your wonderful medicine I was treated by the doctors, but never received any good. Five of my friends are now using your valuable medicine since they have seen what it has done for me.

"I wish you to use my statements as they may be of encouragement to others."

FAKE SPOOK.

Four months ago Harvey Spurlin's daughter died at St. Louis Crossing, a small town near this city. She was a favorite in the family, and it seemed no solace could be found for the bereaved parents. Six weeks ago Mrs. Spurlin reported that she saw a strange apparition at her window. She said it came in a long white robe as ghosts usually do and walked noiselessly through the yard and vanished in the air at midnight.

Finally Harvey told his brother George about the strange intruder. George agreed to assist in running the ghost down and arranged to be on hand last night. Early in the evening George came and brought his bull dog, a savage beast, usually kept chained. The dog was fastened in the back room and the two brothers located themselves upstairs in a room overlooking the spook's usual point of approach. Sure enough at eleven o'clock the white form was seen approaching the house. It glided over the fence and into the yard, apparently rising in the air as it approached the haunted room. George ran down stairs, untied the bull dog, and started in pursuit of the visiting spook.

As the dog started toward the ghost it retreated to the rear of the yard towhere a gate usually stood open leading into the barnyard and thence to the corn field. But the gate was closed and the spirit went pell mell against it and fell to the ground. In a second the dog had the ghost by the throat and its screams brought George and his brother Harvey to the scene. George caught his dog and broke his hold from the prostrate form, but in doing so tore the white robe from its person when Harvey recognized the object as the beautiful wife of Daniel Girard.

The revelation threw Spurlin into a rage, and he went for his shot gun, and returning presentnend it at the prostrate woman's head. His brother seized the weapon and prevented a tragedy. The would-be spook is a member of a prominent family, as also are all the parties. The case will be brought up at the next term of court.—Shelbyville (Ind.) correspondent Chicago Times.

Science says now that beauty is not skin deep. She can tell you that half the charm of a pretty face—at least the expression—is a matter of little muscles and a complex labyrinth of nerves, and that the curves of the lips, the glance of the eyes, the droop of their lids, are a matter of the prevalent use of certain small muscles in obedience to a prevalent aspect of the mind. Moreover, that the use of these organs of expression has come down along ancestral lines, and that the mould of the features themselves is a question of heredity.

BY DAY LABOR AFTER ALL.

The Aldermen Decided to Thus Sewer a Small Section of Fort Street.

All of the city council were at the regular meeting last evening. The session lasted until after ten o'clock and considerable business was taken up and disposed of. It was at last decided to do some sewerage work by day labor, and the experiment will be tried on Fort street between Douglas street and Blanchard street.

The provincial secretary wrote asking for information concerning the old men's home to be sent to Ottawa to be placed in the Canadian statistical book for the year. The caretaker at the home will furnish the facts desired.

The department of agriculture wrote calling attention to the fact that many cattle in the vicinity of the city suffering from tuberculosis had been destroyed and calling attention to the danger of using milk from cattle so diseased, and saying that the department thought it wise to notify the council so that measures could be taken to guard the public health.

Ald. Munn was of the belief that the matter should be referred to the provincial inspector, as most of the diseased cattle were outside of the city limits. He moved that a copy be sent to the provincial inspector and another to the city health officer. It was so decided.

E. B. Kenrick, analyst of St. John's college, Winnipeg, made the following report on his analysis of Elk lake water:

Winnipeg, Sept. 25.

Sir,—I beg to enclose the result of the analysis of water samples received from you through the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa.

The samples contain a fairly large proportion of vegetable matter in solution. In comparison with the general character of our Canadian water supplies the amount is not excessive, and I do not believe that such waters are in any way injurious to health. If thought desirable, however, much of the organic matter may be removed by the addition of a small quantity of sulphate of alumina before filtration—the process of filtration being much facilitated by this addition. As to the comparison between the three samples, there appears to be little practical difference, No. 1 containing slightly less organic matter than the other two. I shall be glad to give any further information in my power.

The appended letter was then read:

12th October, 1894.

To His Worship the Mayor and Council:

Gentlemen,—I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 29th ult., in reference to the question of the extension of the Douglas street sewer to the grounds of the North Ward school, and enclosing copy of resolution passed by the council in reference there to, as follows:

"That until such time as the council shall receive from the Sewerage Commissioners a request that the work be performed by day labor instead of by contract, the council refrain from ordering that it be done by day labor."

The commissioners have deemed it their duty to consider very carefully the question of the principle involved in the above resolution, viz., the relative cost of the work performed by contract and that under a foreman directed by the City Engineer. The former system has been adopted for obvious reasons in the great majority of public works, both provincial and municipal. Up to 1864 the latter system chiefly [illegible] 1870 both systems were in vogue. In the latter year a return was prepared by the surveyor-general, showing relative cost of work under each system, and for a short time and in consequence of the results shown in this return both systems prevailed. The legislature then determined that the contract system should be adopted. Through the courtesy of Mr. Gore, Deputy Commissioner of Lands and Works, the commissioners are enabled to submit for your information and consideration a statement taken from official sources, showing the cost of roadmaking under each of the above systems, which is very valuable from the taxpayer's point of view.

Statement of comparative cost of road making by department with foreman and party, and also by contract from 1861 to 1870 from "statistics and tabular returns" in the lands and works department.

1861 TO 1864—FOREMAN AND PARTY—(DAY LABOR).

Average cost of ten roads in Victoria and Saanich, complete: Grading 15 to 25 feet wide, gravelling 12 to 20 feet wide, depth of metal 12 inches; average cost per lineal yard, $1.06. Average pay of foreman, $85.55 with food per month; average cost of teams, $4.33 per day; average pay of graders, $1.25 per day; average pay of axemen, $1.75 per day. Amount expended 1861 and 1862, $57,275. Total cost of tools, $821; total refund sale of tools, $192.05. Cost of tools to be added to cost of work per cent. [illegible]

1870—Average cost of thirteen roads under same specification, including nine [illegible] per lineal yard, $2.06.

1861 TO 1864—CONTRACT WORK.

Cost of Esquimalt road—Grading 18 feet wide, gravelling 18 feet wide, depth of metal 12 inches; cost, exclusive of blasting, per lineal yard, $3.04. Cost of part Esquimalt road, gravelling 18 feet wide per lineal yard, $1.50. Cost of part Saanich road, per lineal yard, $2.71. Average cost of eleven roads, Victoria, Metchosin and Saanich, per lineal yard, $2.13. Average, $2.29.

This shows that contract work costs more than twice as much as that done by day labor. Given honest and efficient officials it is evident that day labor should be the cheapest, as the capital employed belongs to the ratepayers, and until employed is lying idle in the banks. The office work on duplicate plans, and the filling up of bonds and contracts is avoided. The profits of the contractor are saved, as well as the amount of his personal remuneration for supervision, etc. The cost of two, three or more foremen as at present, would also be saved. The only increased cost might be that incidental to men engaged on the works, compensation for any injury to them would have to be paid by the city.

The analogy between road and sewer construction is very close, and is quite wanting when one comes to consider other public works, ex. gr. buildings, etc.

The commissioners have, therefore, determined, in view of the resolution of the council referred to above, and of the facts set forth in the forgoing statement, based on the expenditure of a very large amount of public money, and extending over a period of many years, to suggest to the council that it is highly expedient to try a given portion of the sewerage work, to be indicated by them, under the system called day labor, with the view of determining the cost of same relatively to that of contract work.

Though the terms of the by-law clearly imply the construction of the sewers by contract the commissioners are of opinion that the [illegible] should be made in a reasonable way, of the day labor system, because if the result attained should be anything like that in the case of roadmaking, the ratepayers would be benefited, and the council and commissioners would have every reason to rejoice that the experiment had been made. The amount of the loan still unexpended and unappropriated is not less than $26,000, a portion of which might be devoted to this object.

(Signed) W. J. DOWLER,
Secretary to the Sewerage Commissioners.

Ald. Ledingham moved that the report be received and filed, that the thanks of the council be extended to the commissioners and that copies of the report be given to the newspapers.

Ald. Wilson wanted to know if it was to be placed in the newspapers as advertising, and Ald. Ledingham said that he regarded it as of sufficient importance to be printed as news.

Ald. Baker did not have much faith in the day labor system and objected to going into the scheme. He renewed his former objections to it.

Ald. Munn said that if the sewerage commissioners were willing to assume the responsibility in the matter he was willing to see the work go on. He believed that if he desired the sanction of the council that another motion would have to be offered.

Ald. Dwyer was glad that there was a chance to test the day work system.

Ald. Wilson moved to amend by striking out the portion of the resolution relating to publication, as it would cost too much.

After a long discussion as to what the reporters would do the amendment was carried.

John Nanson wrote pointing out the damage done by the closing of Colquitz creek. Received and filed.

Anton Henderson, of the Victoria Transfer company, wrote complaining that two of his horses had fallen into an unguarded hole on Douglas street, and saying that damages would be asked.

Ald. Baker said that the street was advertised as closed, and he did not believe the city responsible.

The letter was referred to the street committee.

George Carter, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., wrote asking for the privilege of using a portion of Beacon Hill park for outdoor sport.

The matter was referred to the park committee.

Ald. Dwyer said that the Y. M. C. A. members had the same rights to the park as any one, but that no one could expect special privileges.

Mrs. J. Brockelhurst, of Hillside avenue, wrote complaining of a crowd of boys who hang about her place and steal and destroy property.

Mayor Teague and Ald. Dwyer said that there were a lot of young blackguards in different parts of the city who should be made examples of.

[illegible] instances since the work in connection with the sewers began where waste pipe had been stolen. He believed the police should pay visits to the vacant houses.

The letter was referred to the chief of police with power to act.

Mr. Beaumont, watchman at the agricultural association's buildings, whose term of service expires on October 31, applied for reappointment. The matter was tabled for consideration by the agricultural association, and in the meantime Mr. Beaumont will continue as watchman.

J. Fairall complained of some saucy language from Poundmaster Shaw and reported him for neglect of duty. Referred to the pound committee.

W. G. H. Ellison, who fenced up the Craigflower road, wrote setting forth his claims and urging an immediate settlement of the matter.

Ald. Humphrey said as soon as the other roads around the square were opened that the road should be closed.

Ald. Ledingham said that Mr. Ellison really had not other way to drain than across the road.

Mayor Teague said that the matter should be gone into, and Ald. Wilson agreed with him. The latter said that the road should be closed to give the owner a right to his property. The matter should be faced and he moved that it be referred to the street committee.

Ald. Baker said the street committee had no funds to open the other roads. No great injustice was being done Mr. Ellison and there were other people entitled to consideration. Mr. Fairall was in precisely the same position and he believed that Mr. Ellison had not gone into the matter properly. He urged that the letter be tabled or received and filed.

It was finally decided to table the matter until funds were available.

Mrs. G. M. Hummer wrote asking for relief for four children. The mayor explained that the woman was in want and needy and something must be done for the children. The father was away seeking work.

Ald. Dwyer said the four children could simply not be left to starve, and moved that the matter be referred to the mayor to act. The motion was carried.

City Engineer Wilmot reported in reply to criticism as to the conduct of the concrete work at Beaver lake that over 89 cubic yards of concrete had been put in at a cost of $6 per cubic yard. He also reported giving estimates on several minor improvements. The reports were received and filed.

W. W. Northcott, building inspector, reported that Christie, Thompson & Co. had completed machinery hall at the agricultural grounds and that T. R. Mitchell had finished the work of painting the roof of the market hall. Received and filed.

Chief Deasy presented the following report on the matter of giving fire protection to Jubilee and Isolation hospitals:

"12th October, 1894.

"His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen:

"Gentlemen,—I have the honor to report a thorough inspection of the Jubilee and Isolation hospital buildings for the purpose of recommending proper protection from fire.

"At present the only provision in the Jubilee hospital consists of buckets filled with water.

"I would respectfully recommend the purchase of the following:

FOR ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

One two-wheel 55-gallon, single tank chemical engine fully equipped, with 150 feet of four ply rubber hose, estimated cost	$1,100
Four six-gallon extinguishers for corridors at $60 each.....	240
One iron fire escape on three story section with iron balcony.....	150
Six light wooden ladders.....	72
Total estimated cost.....	$1,562

ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

One thousand feet three-ply 2 1-2 inch fire hose at 90 cents per foot.....	$900
One hose reel, hand, at present in Market building, no cost; pipes, spanners, etc	25
Total	$925

"In order to clearly understand my reasons for recommending the above, permit me to state that a chemical engine on wheels might be used in any building, and might be of service in case of fire at the Isolation hospital.

"The six gallon extinguishers in the corridors would be useful to suppress fires caused by explosions of lamps or incipient fires throughout the interior of the buildings.

"I understand a number of persons sleep on the third floor, and in order to comply with the law an iron fire escape should be provided at once.

"The wooden ladders are required on the roof.

"In recommending one thousand feet of hose at the isolation hospital the reason is that a fire hydrant stands in the grounds. We have on hand a serviceable hose cart, and the employes of the two institutions might work together should a fire occur.

"There is little doubt that the occupants of the buildings must depend on their own efforts in case of fire. During the winter, with snow on the ground, it would be almost impossible to reach the buildings from the fire halls within 30 minutes.

Chemical engines may be used with promptness, and during a fire every minute is of the utmost importance. Experience has proved that it is comparatively easy to deal with flames when just started, whereas afterwards the energies of a whole fire department may be taxed to arrest their progress.

"Another consideration: The insurers would be induced to reduce rates in the event of furnishing proper means for suppressing fires.

"Attached please find cut of proposed chemical engine.

"I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
"Your Obedient Servant,
"THOMAS DEASY,
"Chief of Fire Department."

Ald. Dwyer was granted leave to introduce a tax sale by-law.

The finance committee recommended the appropriation of $1093.20 out of the general revenue. It was passed in the usual way, as was one appropriating $2499 out of the surface drainage fund and another appropriating $174.67 out of the electric light fund.

The sewerage committee reported recommending among other things that the sewer on Fort street be extended from Douglas to Quadra street.

Ald. Dwyer moved that the block between Douglas and Blanchard streets be done by day labor, and Ald. Ledingham seconded the motion.

Ald. Baker did not believe that they should be guided altogether by the estimate of the city engineer or any engineer. The estimate in question was placed at $1800 for one block.

Ald. Harris said that he had no doubt that contract labor was much the cheaper.

The amendment was put and carried.

Ald. Baker said that they should not split the work, but do it all. The matter of drainage would come in.

Ald. Wilson was in favor of doing it all by day labor. It would hardly be a fair test, as they would have to buy tools, powder and assume any liability for damage. He reminded the council that they were simply the agents of the ratepayers on the street, and believed their permission should be obtained first. They were treading on dangerous ground and he was opposed to going back on the by-law. He believed that they were going outside of their duty.

Ald. Ledingham said it was emphasized at the election that our own people, not Italians, were to get the work, and not that the work was to be done by contract.

Ald. Wilson said that the specifications provided for the character of the labor employed and any alderman could object.

The mayor then put the question on accepting the report of the committee itself, and several of the aldermen asserted that the amendment had not been put, and the mayor said he would put it again.

Ald. Styles was in favor of the day system, and told of the experience of London, England, where 6700 men were employed by the city on public works.

Ald. Wilson said the proposal to put the superintendent of streets in charge took the supervision out of the hands of the commission, but Ald. Dwyer, Styles and Humphrey said that it would not.

The amendment to do half of the work by day labor stood, and then the report as amended was received and adopted. It was agreed that if the first half proved satisfactory that the second half should be done similarly.

The ayes on the final vote were: Ald. Humphrey, Ledingham, Dwyer and Styles and his worship, and the noes Ald. Harris, Munn, Wilson and Baker.

Ald. Dwyer's tax sale by-law was read a first time and the council went into committee of the whole on it. The committee reported the by-law as complete and passed it.

City Clerk Dowler reported that since the last regular meeting of the council the following communications had been received and referred to the committees hereinunder mentioned:

Sewerage—Thomas Potter, requesting that a drain be constructed to carry off the surface water running down Chambers street to the corner of Queen's avenue. J. E. M. Millan, calling attention to the condition of an open drain on the south side of Fisguard street.

Streets—James A. Grahame and four others, requesting that the sidwalk on the north side of Hillside avenue be extended as far as Third street, distance about two hundred feet. James Pottinger, calling attention to the necessity of extending the sidewalk on Michigan street between Montreal and St. Lawrence streets 120 feet farther to the latter street.

FEMALE CHAMPIONSHIP.

St. Louis, Oct. 15.—Before a throng which packed both banks of the river, as well as the great Eads bridge, Miss Rose Mosentheim, of this city, won the mile and a half sculling match for the female championship of America, defeating Miss Tillie Ashley, of Hartford, Conn., Miss Ashley losing heart before the race was half over and giving up. Miss Mosentheim's time was 12 minutes 13 3-4 seconds. In addition to the great crowds that saw the race, the river above the starting point was covered with a flotilla comprising everything from a steam tug down to a house boat. The air was crisp, with a rather raw breeze blowing, which, however, had little effect upon the water. The course, which was down stream, lay between the two bridges. It was kept clear by patrol boats up to the firing of the starting pistol. Little time was lost in the preliminaries, and at 4:45 the girls got away to a good start, each pulling an easy stroke. After a fifteenth of a mile had been gone over, the pulling was strengthened a bit. For the first quarter of a mile there was little to be seen between the bows of the two shells. At this point the St. Louis girl quickened her stroke, pulled into the lead and was never thereafter in danger. A half a dozen lengths below the first half mile, the Hartford girl gave up the race and practically stopped rowing. The western woman kept her pace an finished an easy winner, amid the yelling of men, firing of boat guns and screeching of locomotive whistles from the tracks along the river bank.

Daring Exploit of a Gang of Oregon Bank Robbers.

Hillsboro, Ore., Oct. 16.—Last night J. W. Shulte, president of the First National Bank of this city, was captured by four masked men and taken into the bush three miles from town, bound and compelled to give them the bank keys and the combination of the vault. Two remained guarding Shulte and the other two went to the bank. They returned in a couple of hours empty-handed. The gang then held Shulte until 3 o'clock this morning, making all kinds of threats, but finally turned him loose and left in the opposite direction. Examination of the bank showed that they had worked on the vault, but could not open it, as Shulte had given them the wrong combination. A posse is searching for them.

WATER WORKS SYSTEM.

Council Discusses the Best Means of Spending the Money.

The board of aldermen met this afternoon to consider among other things the best means of spending the money voted for the improvement of the water works system.

Ald. Wilson presented an essay read to the Tacoma city council by an engineer respecting the water works of that city, which was very much the same as the Victoria system. The paper dealt chiefly with the water shed and the fifth that filtered into the lake from settlements on the water shed.

Ald. Baker said he did not think there was a single alderman who was not in favor of purchasing the water shed, for which the money was borrowed.

The mayor said his idea was to obtain an estimate of the cost of the land that it was necessary to purchase, and by that time the plans and specifications for the filter beds, etc., would be ready.

Ald. Munn said if the council wanted any expert opinion Mr. George Munroe, of the department of railways and canals, and president of the civil engineers of Canada, proposed visiting Victoria, and his opinion on the system could be obtained.

Ald. Wilson read the opinion expressed at a recent convention in the east, which, he contended, suited Victoria.

Ald. Dwyer moved that the engineer be instructed to prepare plans for filter beds of the capacity of three million gallons per day, to make surveys for the same and furnish the council with an estimate of the cost.

Ald. Wilson said the city only used half the amount mentioned in the resolution.

Ald. Dwyer said that it was better to build filters that would last for some time to come.

Ald Baker suggested that competitive plans be called for.

Ald. Baker said the city had discharged the city engineer as water commissioner, and now the council were giving him charge of the water works again. He moved in amentment that competitive plans be called for and the engineer be entrusted to make surveys for the same.

Ald. Munn contended that the best opinion should be obtained when a large amount was to be expended.

Ald. Harris said the city could not filter more than two million gallons for the amount at the disposal of the council for that purpose. It was not necessary to call for competitive plans; they would be very much alike.

Ald. Dwyer's motion was adopted, as was also one by the same alderman that the telephone to the lake be put in order.

Some time was spent in discussing what land should be included in the water shed which it was proposed to purchase.

Ald. Wilson moved that C. Boots, the provincial assessor, be appointed to place a valuation on the land. Ald. Lovell named John B. Lovell, while Ald. Munn said that the city assessor should do the work.

It was decided that Mr. Northcott, the city assessor, should do the work, all the aldermen assenting.

All the members of the board thought something should be done to receive the governor-general, but they all objected to any unnecessary expenditure. The matter was left in the hands of a committee composed of the mayor and Ald. Dwyer and Wilson.

Ald. Dwyer moved that the street superintendent be given full power to manage the construction of the proposed sewer to be built by day labor on Fort street. The motion was carried.

The tax sale by-law was finally passed and the council adjourned until Thursday evening at 7.30, when the council regulation by-law will be considered.

ON THE DECLINE.

Branches of the Decorative Art That Have Retrograded.

The decorative branches of the potter's art are probably those which have received the least attention of those who are frequently writing upon other departments of the craft. It would seem that the exploits of the thrower, the achievements of the turner, and the handicraft of the dresser have for them the greater attraction. Yet the finished work of these artisans plays but a small part in the general commercial world of buyers. These latter gentry look not only for form, but for decoration of some kind or another upon which their customers may feast their eyes. Unadorned white or ivory is not considered by them, like nature, adorned the most. Hence they ask for painted, gilded and painted goods, and in these departments there have been of late years many changes, of which it may prove interesting to take note. There is no longer the wide demand for classical subjects, or for rural scenes, that used to exist. A simple flowering spray, a few tangled fern leaves, with a sea shell or some kind or other, or bird fixed upon a piece of bamboo work satisfies the general public. And this kind of work, we are told, can be produced by a workman who has but little skill in art. If this is so it is to be regretted, but we give the opinion as expressed by a past master of the art. Then the cost of such productions is small, and one plate engraving will serve to decorate not only a complete dinner service, but also a tea and toilet service. Alas for the art as practiced but a few years ago! Another department of decorative art which has suffered of late in its prestige is that of the gilder. He used to be an artist of no mean repute, as many of the old dinner and desert sets will prove. How rich was his treatment in gold of various devices and patterns, and how proud our sires used to be of his work! In the days we are speaking of the gilder was an important factor in the decorating shop of any respectable manufacturer, and his art had many followers. His occupation is, however, for the most part gone, excepting in a few of our principal manufactories, where the highest specimens of the potters' craft are produced. Yet, it may be said, how then do you account for the large quantity of gilded ware now seen in the markets? Easily enough. It is not the work of the male artist, but of young women and girls, who work for a comparatively low wage as compared with the male. Then again, it is not, for the greater part, the "old English" gold that you see on the ware, but an imitation known as "bronze," but which is not of a durable nature. But these changes in the struggle for wealth and not for art, it is to be presumed, must be endured, although in the end we pay dearly for them. The position of the male artist is again usurped by the competitive demand for cheapness in the painting department, though we do not think to the same extent as his fellow-workman, the gilder. Yet it is difficult for many first class painters to find employment, owing to the demand which has been fostered by cheap painted ware. A daub to represent a flower or foliage is deemed sufficient, and hence good painting is not so sought after—only upon expensive art ware—as it used to be. But a change may be expected, as is sure to come in a claim for better art ware with an increasing trade, and then the art workman to whom we have re-

—The Pottery Gazette.

The British empire is a political creation unparalleled in the world's history, not only by its extent and population, in both of which respects it is slightly surpassed by China, but because, with an area of more than ten million square miles and with three hundred and fifty-two million inhabitants, it is scattered over the whole globe. It embraces all zones from the icy wilderness of Hudson Bay to the tropical jungles of India and the mahogany forests of Honduras; there is scarcely a product which a British province does not bring forth in excellent quality; and not less various are the degrees of civilization of its inhabitants, from the Kaffirs of the Cape to the highly cultivated citizens of Toronto or Sydney. We find, with Christians of all professions, two hundred million Hindus, about seventy million Mohammedans and eight million Buddhists; and the Bible is printed in one hundred and thirty languages and dialects represented in the empire; yet, notwithstanding such promiscuous elements, the government, with rare exceptions, maintains order, and no sign of dissolution is visible.—October Forum.
